THE EARLIEST MAN.

As to the age of the prehistoric human skeleton found near Inswich, Professor Keith, the anthropologist at the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, says :-

"There is every evidence that this man lived long before the Glacial period. During this period England was covered with a great thickness of ice. Finally this melted, and a large quantity of debris was deposited, and it was underneath a deposit of this. sort that the skeleton was found. Hence the man must have lived long before the Ico Ago and before the rivers were formed. "The finding of this skeleton strongthems the belief that the evolution of man was an infinitely longer process than we originally thought ... At one time the believers in the evolution theory thought that man's development to his present state might have taken, something like ten thousand years. Later they put the period around 120,000. The differences, if any, between this man's bony, framework and modern man's are so minute us to prove that evolution must have taken hundreds of thousands of years. This discovery shows the England was inhabited as early if not earlier than at Continental country."

It seems abourd, remarks the Singapore Free Press, that the decision as to whether two people were legally married or no should hang on the quest on of their having had pickled fea at the wedding breakfast. That, however, was solumnly argued before the Privy Council on Jan. 26th, and it is not quite as absurd as it looks. The appear was one from Burmah, and it seems than pickled tes is almost as essential there to a legal wedding as the licence over here. The case is a curious example of what mazes of strange law an Imperial judiciary

THE AMES IS BEING BEING OF A LOS DUPLICATOR.

Has schieved a success unequalled by any other Rotary-Duplicator. This is due to almplicity of working and the excellence of fitting of the parts. It has caused a complete revolution in Duplicating, and the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the production of perfect copies by the Rotary of the Perfect copies by the Rotar Machine is now a certainly. From a well written original any boy can make thousands of copies on any paner.

There is absolutely nothing to go out of order, and the apparatus is always track There is a mechanical device which allows the copy to be made in any marting and The pressure roller is regulated by a simple lever, and the arrangement is so made that it is impossible for the operator to have difficulty with his work. The printing cylinder is geared so that one turn of the handle makes a copy. A most important advantage ELLAMS "B 19" possesses is that the mit never drips and runs all over the Duplicator as on other machines. The ink never dries on the rollers or pade, and copies can be made on any kind of Morecrar, this ink does not stain the hands in any way.

There is no peculiar or complicated fastening of the stenoil sheet to the Duplicators The ELLAMS B19" Duplicator is so absolutely simple that it requires no experience whatever to produce parfect copies from it there is no calquisting out unscrowing of parts. STORY OF THE ABDICATION As Told by Yuan Shih-kai.

H. E. Yuan Shih-kai, according to the China Press, has circulated the following telegram among all the Viceroys and Governors of China :-

"A mandate from the Court urged me to emerge from my retirement. I refused disturbances. The treesury was destitute men? of funds; difficulties interposed in the way purchase munitions of war or to increase quests for dismissal were refused. the military establishment.

the Naval forces were lost: the moment Hanyang was reconquered Nanking fell The power of the Government over the waterways and the sea was gone and the sources of revenue were cut off. Although in various ways I encouraged the military n greater effort, secured the revocation of Shantung's declaration of independence, subdued the capital of Shansi and Loyang, recaptured the region around Ta-t'ung-la and did all in my power to prop up the North, so that it might enjoy a certain degree of peace, yet the tide was too strong and swept every locality. Societies among the people were scattered everywhere: defense, this defense I found impossible to grateful recompense.

" Moreover, at this time there was international intervention and it was requested that in the interests of humanity a truce be declared and negotiations undertaken. Periorce, therefore, there began conferences between the representatives and an edict was insued decreeing the fixing of the form of government by popular "Profracted discussion resulted in nothing and continued delay meant increased danger of universal cising. Foreigners continually uttered reproof on the scores of commercial interests and the indennity. Members of secret societies and local rollbers broke out into violence against women, moine and murder, and because the country was in such a chaotic state politically it was difficult to restore order.

Subsequently O'a-lun, Ili, Halun seve rally declared independence; repeated disorders arose, too, in Tibet. Within there was ruin; without there was furnit shed the possibility of foreign intervention.

It was absolutely Impossible in spite of many expedients to collect funds for military uses. "In order to last out the year a million taels were "On account of sickness I retired for absolutely essential. Moreover the spirit three years and had no desire to interfere of the army was shaken, governmental policies underwent transformation.

"At this juncture had the strife been continued in a very short time it would have repeatedly, but it was of no avail. nations, the commercial associations at the ports, the different conferences, the various troops, and the Provincial Viceroys and Governors have sent telegrams, all stating that the will of the people is lent on a Republic and that it would be well-nigh impossible to make stand against it. The crucial moment for affairs was one o extreme danger; fate hung upon the intake. or expulsion of a breath...

ton of a radial war with the requisant miseries. When I received them combands I was frightened and feared that I should not be able to carry ment out. My course and strongth were exhausted and I had no resource. I would place the occurry first in importance and making the peace of lices above and the water of those below my object, yield myself to the distance of the majority.

"An edict was issued by Hor Imperial Majesty directing me first to settle with the Revolutionary Army regarding the especial consideration to be accorded the Imperial Family and the treatment of Manchus, Mongolians, Mohammedans and Tibetans. In this the Throne chose the lessor evil, in a spirit of bitter and hopeless dejection.

"L'an agreement could be reached by the two sides and posce declared, then the Imperial Family might onjoy glory and honor unknown to former generations and the hereditary nobility among the Manchus, Mongols, Mohammedans, and Tibetans, and the allowances of the Bannermen might continue without interruption. This course was inexpressibly better than to await the final separation; with its incalculable

"These matters were discussed numerous times and having been carefully considered by the Throne an agreement was made, resulting in the present state of affairs. "You, Sira, desire ardently to rule with justice; with your eminent talents you aid the progress of avants; you thirst for peace. We are of one spirit. Yet fearing lest the true inwardness of things might not be known to you in great detail I have presumed to present this summary, which I now commend to your attention.'

NEWS FROM HOME.

(From Our Oion Oprespondent.) LONDON, February V. CERMAN COLLEGE BE ITERRITIES.

Before long German university men in the Far East are likely to hear from home a new movement started by the Kalser to link up the ex-students and their alms mater, no matter where they may be. America has some of these college fraternities and the Emperor deplores. the absence of associations of fellowships of German students that will keep former students at the principal colleges and gymnasia in Germany in touch with each

English universities have not taken this kind of thing up very systematically, though the Oxford and Cambridge Unions. and sundry clubs in London restricted to university men, and a few Masonic lodges, take the place of the fraternities to some

LASCARS HOT FIGHT.

Birkenhead docks are not noted for gentle manners, but the men who foregather there had a thrill the other day that eclipsed any "scrap" of the past twelve months. The Bibby liner Herefordshire, lying in the Float, was staking coal prior to her trip to Rangoon, when the peaceful if grimy scone auddenly developed warfare of a sanguinary kind. The Lascars are, of course, quick to take offence, so when a fireman came along and picked up a can of water they were heating at the fire hostilities began between seamen and firemen in the twinkling of an eye. The disputants made for the poon-deck where the fight extended, the lascars using iron bars or anything that came handy. These they used with deadly effect and the Serangs were quite powerless to induce the lasenrs to suspend their rain of blows. At last the officers were summoned and drove the men below at the point of their revolvers, but not till the deck looked like a shambles. for blood was spilled all about and twenty men had to be treated at the hospital.

GOVERNMENT JOBS. The Insurance Bill promises to create the largest official department under the Crown, so far as the number of the staff is concerned. There will be insurance commissioners, inspectors and any amount of other billets to be filled, and ever since the Bill was passed applications have fairly rained in." Now the Civil Service commissioners have been called in to lend a hand with the avalanche of letters, politions recommendations, political testinguials and the like. . Ireland alone has sent ten thousand applications for jobs and though the announcement was made that to bring political pressure to bear would disqualify the applicant the pressure is being brought all the same, and there are Mark Tapleys enough in these islands just now to stock the entire empire. But when the authorities came to contemplate the army of untried officials trying to carry, out the provisions, of the Actcomplicated enough in all conscience—they were appalled. So they have taken many civil servants as they can from the Customs. Excise and other departments where the men have had training not merely in indoor administration but also in dealing direct with the outside public. After the chief jobs have been filled with these civil servants the subordinate positions will "be occupied by selected applicants, preferably officials of benefit accieties coming under the Act. who have had experience of dealing with sickness and out of work 314 pay among the poorer classes. But in Ireland the societies of that kind are few. so there will be a lively scramble for places and it is to be leared that there will be a good deal of political wirepulling first and a good deal of friction afterwards. The new department evidently appeals to the Civil Service, for when the terms of the positions were issued and applications were invited first of all from the Civil Service, the applications for transfer startled the officials. Evidently the men look for quicker promotion and enugger billets in

CABINET TROUBLES. The speech by Mr. J. M. Robertson throwing cold water on the idea that Ireland should have fiscal freedom has greatly annoyed many Irishmen. The outlook is by no means gay for the Cabinet. They are credited with considering a compromise on this Irish fiscal freedom matter. This is to be on the line that the Imperial Exchequez should control Irish Customs and Excise until the Irish land loan is liquidated say about ten years. However. much may happen before that comes to

TOWN PLANNING IN INDIA.

Not only the public buildings of the new capital of India, but also the residences of the higher officials, will have to be built on the Plain outside present city of Delhi; for the area enclosed between the Jumna and the city walls is already fully occupied, and is not suitable for the residence of the higher classes of public servants. Though no city in India has finer streets than the main thoroughfares of Delhi, the smaller streets are narrow and tortuous, and in many cases end in culs-de-sac.

At the Sanitary Conference held in Bombay last month the president, Sir Harcourt Butler, who has the Sanitary Department as well as education under his charge, gave ...Fl. 45,000,000 (£3,750,000), some"hints of future openings for townplanning in India. He is understood to have expressed the belief that the time is BRANCHES:-Singapore, Penang, on new and scientific lines of building than Shanghai, Rangoon, Samarang, Sourabaya, by the enormously costly improvements in Djember, Cheribon, Tegal, Pecalongan, Tjilatjap, Bandoeng, Padang, Medan, big cities, such as have been carried out, Tobing Tinggi (Deli), Palembang, Rotafor example, in Bombay. Radja, (Acheen), Macassar, Bandjermasin. The two processes must, of course, always supplement each other, but as yet Madrae, Pondicherry, Calcutta, Bangkok, Saigon, Haiphong, Hanoi, Amoy, Yokolittle or nothing had been done in the way hama, Robe, Melbourne, Sydney, New of extension of towns into the open country. These views of the Education Member are of especial interest now that the Government of India have the opport-The Bank buys and sells and receives for unity to carry out town-planning on the collection Bills of Exchange, issues letters Delhi Plain on the most approved modern of credit on its Branches and correspondents in the East, on the Continent in Great principles. It may be mentioned that, Britain, America, and Australia, and transowing to the necessity of keeping the inacts banking business of every description tentions of the Government secret until the King-Emperor had made his announcement, no plans or provisional estimates have as yet been prepared. PROGRESS OF DELHL shock of the Mutiny, Delhi has made stoady progress in the last few decades. Its population, 173,393 in 1881, stood at 232,837 at may be that Darjeeling will be re-transthe last census. Its increase of 11.6 per cent. for the past decade was the more noteworthy since the city, in common with the Punjah generally, suffered severely from plague, and the province actually declined in population during the period.

Though followed somewhat closely by Ishore, the capital of the local Government Delhi is the most populous city in the Punjab. The increases of recent decades have been largely due to the developmen. of the mill industries which the steady improvement of railway communication has helped to foster. There are cloth and cot on-spinning and weaving mills, flour INTEREST allowed on Current Account mills, sugar-cane pressing factories, and many minor industries, including the the great industrial centra of Campore. Nagpar and Orissa there is wide scope for An incidental effect of the transfer of capital thither will be to stimulate the growing importance of Karachi, since that port is much mearer to Delhi than either Eombay or Calcutta.

THE BEHAN CAPITAL Paton, now raised to the dignity of a provincial capital, has historio associations which, from the Hindu point of view, are definite and more gratifying than even those of Delhi itself. As Pataliputra it was the capital of Northern India under the great Chandragupta, the Sandrokottos of the Greeks, during whose reign it was the residence of the Greek envoy Megasthenes

(302-297 B. 1.). Here, too, the great

Asoka reigned for 40 years, and, though after his death it disappeared from historic record for a time, it witnessed early in the fourth century of our ere the birth of a second Empire, that of the Supta kings. It is thus a city which supeals strongly to bulk Hindu and Buddhist septiment. while in medicaral times it came under the governors up of Azim, grandson of Aurang which is still in use among Manonedamy Situated on the right bank of the Gattees, a few miles below to sure you with the Ever, and 232 miles from Concentra, by the Rant

Its area is 44,259 square miles, and its population is about 14. millions. An coming in India when sanitation will be important point in connexion with the attained rather by the extension of towns rearrangements about to be made is that when the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam was constituted in 1905 the com plaint that the hill station of Darjeeling would cease to be under the Calcutta Government was met by transferring the Darjeeling district from the Rajshahi division, then brought under the Dacca Government, to the Beghalpur division of

It has already been intimated that the Governor of Bengal will spend part of his I time at Dacca; but it is doubtful whether he can confine his residence throughout the year to that city and Calcutta, oven with the addition of Chittagong, where the Though it was long recovering from the Lieutenant-Governor of Eastern Bengal has resided for a short period each year Though nothing has yet been decided, it ferred to the Rajshahi division, and that the way will thus be opened for the Bengal Governor to divide his time between the plains and the hills. The Chots Nagpur division of the new air is full of ramours these days of the loans which China is seeking from the outer world. All the big nations have been approached and according to latest reliable authority Japan, despite her own well-known impecuniosity, has claimed," for political reasons, the right to share in any international loan that may be raised. And that right has been admitted, though there was one dissentient when the matter was voted upon by the Cabinet in Nanking. China will want a good deal of money if she is to start the various schemes propounded by the reformers with any reasonable prospect of success. Sir Kobert Bredon, who speaks with some authority, puts down the amount at 800,000,000 tack, or £100,000,000 sterling, which will be required in the next two years. That is a very large sum and we are not surprised that the late acting Inspector-General of the Imperial Chinese Customs is not sanguine of Europe and America putting their hands quite so deeply into their pockets with China at her present stage of development. But must obtain it from outsiders, for if the Revolution has accomplished nothing else it has clearly demon strated what many observant foreign ers had long ngo declared to be the case, that she has no surplus capital available for either exploitation development. Then how much can she afford to borrow at the present moment? Sir ROBERT BREDO thinks that louns aggregating 240,000,000 should be the limit at

SCOTTISH SPORT

(From Our Own Correspondent) EDINBURGH, Fabruary II.

Interest in the Rugby world was contrad in two games in Edinburgh. Ab Craiglock hart, the unbeston Edinburgh University met the Watennians. The first meeting of the two Clubs this season resulted in a draw with no scoring, and was remarkable for determined marking and teckling; this return match was characterized rather by force of play than the number of individual runs and passing movements. The University were unfortunate in having to take the field without four of their internationalists, -- Mackensie, Taylor, M'Counell, an I S. B. B. Campbell, the last two being organed at Pwickenham. They put un a magnificent fight, however, and play the impression of being slightly the more dangerous side. For their ability to put up this close fight, the University were indebted chiefly to their forwards. The Watsonians were superior behind, and owed their win to the brilliance of Pearson, who cleverly engine-red two of the socres-For the day, he quite outplayed Augus, but then Angua was injured during the game, and had to play softly. SUN YAT-SEN WAIVES A POINT.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail. LONDON, March 5.

A telegram from Reuter's correspondent at Peking states that Dr. Sun Yst-sen no longer insists on Yuan Shih-kai coming to Nanking. On the contrary, the Government at Nanking will probably go to Paking to co-operate In the restoration of order.

It is reported that bunds of soldiers .are looting everywhere in the interior.

A TERRORIST SOCIETY

The special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Peking declares that that there is a Manchu terrorist organisation in existence, which is despatching emissaries to the various centres to invite the soldiery to revolt.

MEW CLAIMANT TO THRONE.

It is expected that a new claimant to the Throne will shortly raise the standard of revolt, in the person of Chu Cheng-yu, a descendant of the Ming Dynasty.

"THE TIMES" ON JAPAN'S ATTITUDE.

(Renter's Service to the Chilia Mail.)

LONDON, March 6. The Times discussing the state_of anarchy now prevailing in North China pays a tribute to the loyalty wherewith the responsible statesmen of Japan, despite all difficulties, had observed the letter and the spirit of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It emphasises the dangers and inconveniences of foreign Intervention, but says that the situation may develop so as to compel the Powers, whereof Great Britain and Japan are most immediately concerned, to concert measures for the restora tion of order. The Times still hopes that the sturdy commonsense of the bulk of the Chinese people will enable them to maintain order and unity in the empire and in industrial matters.

REPUBLICAN TROOPS ORDERED NORTH.

(Wah Tez Yat Po's Service.)

Shanghai March 5. The Nanking Government has ordered the Republican troops to -proceed to the North by various ways, and the Communication Department has ordered the trains on the Peking Hankow road and the Tientsin-Pokow road to arrange to proceed south to . convey soldiers to the capital.

Mr and Mrs Sidney Webb on the Chinese.

an answer which an old China hand has sont of the London and China Express:

CHINESE HONISTY AND INDUSTRY. "The Chinese, to judge from what is said of them, are honest, industrious, the Chinese have so little of what the fact, being that any good class, and eduit from being stolen; whilst in every them in political matters, can have but one to every Prescription received. form of internal trade false weights and opinion as to their expecity. Testimony to

"You are told that they are peacoful law abiding, frugal, thrifty, and skilfuland you find that what is referred to is the untiring industry of the millions of petty cultivators, anxious only to be let alone in their rice fields. So far are the Chinese from being peaceful and unaggressive that highway robbery with violence, murder, and piracy are extremely rife; whilst as for 'law-abiding,' it is admitted on all hands that no Chinese person ever dreams of obeying a law merely because it is law, or, indeed, of obeying any new or unaccustomed law whatsoever, if it can possibly be evaded. "But the European in the Far East is not, as a rule, thinking of these things: . . . What the European in the Far East likes in the Chinese is not their virtues, still less their intellectual capacity or practical achievements, but their virtual admission of their inferiority to himself-their docility as servants. Moreover, you are not long in discovering that this universal profession of "liking" for the Chinese character, and of admiration for the Chinese expacity-which never, by the way, leads to any real social intimacy, even with the Europeanised Chinese—is only by way of contrast with the Japanese, who are universally disliked in the Far East. It is not so much that the Europeans actually love the Chinese as that they em that cally do not love the Japanese! And though the Europeana do not analyse their own feelings, we hazard the opinion that their dislike of the Japanthat the Japanese, unlike the Chinese W to he regarded as equals, and to be register esp proceeds fundamentally from t'e fact as equals, and to be treated as the equals of any other nation, and are making good their claim. . . A DEGRADED SURVIVAL.

"To sum up, this so-called 'great' wrace.

whose expacity is so much extolled by those who profess to admire them, and whose reputed achievements in the distant past claim our respect is, to-day, by al the available evidence, capable of nothing Its sole achievement in the past f w centuries is that it has endured ... We cannot here even hazard a suggestion as to the causes of the sterility or decadence which seems to have fallen on the Chinese people. But we tealise, as we never realised before, the imminence and the gravity of the Yellow Peril. Not that this peril bears any resemblance to the absord bogey that is usually meant by that phrase. Nor is the danger one of economic competition. The real Yellow Peril is the moral and intellectual deevience into which this vast empire bas fallen; the helpless incapacity of its people to create even a decent social organism ; good, accial and political, has come their failure to develop the vast natural her from the opening of the treaty ports resources of their country, which are and of the great rivers, and that even perhaps, as extensive as those of the China's forcow, if it had been thoroughly United States : their abject inability even to train their rivers so that apriculture (and with it foreign trade) may not be disastronsly interrupted. The serious evil that China does us is not to undersall our artisans, but to lower the tone and coarsen the fibre of the European in the Far East. The best defence against this real Yellow Peril is the elevation and training of the Chinese themselves . Those are doing more to ward off from Europe what would be an incalculable disaster, who are helping the Chinese to raise thamselves. The new schools and colleges of the Chinese Government, the educational and medical work of the missionaries, the instrucand when armed with any weapons, bombs I tion of Chinese students abroad all the er other dangerous articles, should efforts that are now being made to not be allowed to approach the improve Chinese administration every hamiliating degradation before the West ted Chinese takir national self-respect

This PHARMACEUTICAL as house servants! As a matter of fact, is, of course, the simplest somense, the Norwegians or the Bavarians call housety ented foreigner who has ever lived in that every growing crop must be watched China, for some years, and mixed freely continuously night and day to prevent with the natives in commerce or opposed measures and counterfeit coin are em- this effect could be produced by all the ployed and looked for as a matter of leading merchants or by the members of the Consular and Diplomatic services. Foreigners are, of course, always impressed by the peacefulness, frugality, thriftiness and skill of the tillers of the soil, but they admire even more than this the capacity and (as a rule) the trustworthiness of t good mercantile Chinese with whom it, is their custom to do business, while it is safe to say that our Consular officials and diplomatists find among the officials in China men of supreme expacity, obstinate and conservative, it may be, at times, but brilliant in negotiation on Chinese lines. Mr and Mrs. Webb -ive it as their opinion that no Chinese person ever dreams of obeying any new or unaccustomed law, whatsoever, if can possibly be evaded. To our minds this seems merely uninstructed opinion run mad. There is no greater law-abiding nation under the sun than the Chinese. unless, indeed, some now law runs counter > to old-established tradition and usage, or touches some point of family tradition or local belief which is sanctified by immemotial usage. But, in their ordinary life, official orders often meet with a cheerful and ready obedience, and the official tag to a proclamation, "Respect this," is much more of a form than a needful command. "Mr and Mrs Webb, make, as they think, a great point out of the so-called exploitation of the Chinese by foreigners of the willingness of the forner to content themselves with the position of clerks and coolies under European managers, of their ce-sion to Europeans of all the organization. of foreign trade, of the management of ships and triegraphs, and post office and Customs; ignorant, perhaps, of the facts that in many ways the Chinese are still in a tutelary state; that many Chinese are employed in the service of the Imperial Customs; that the Chinese themselves have now a far reaching internal telegraph. service; that their arsenals are largely worked by Chinese labour and by Chinese officials; and that no more Europeans are employed than is absolutely necessary for the safe working of modern appliances. CHIMA AND FORTION INTRECOURSE.

"On the general question of benefits accruing to Chins from foreign intercourse, it may be safely said that from the time when China (as a result of war) ceded Hongkong to the British Government may be counted the rejuvenation and rehabilitation of that country as world Power that she has benefited in every way from her intercourse with for. eigners, that Thanks to duties regularly collected by the Imperial Customs, her finances have materially improved, that taken in hand by foreign engineers, might have been done away with. What capacity Mr and Mrs Webb have for judging of the dislike entertained by loseigners for the Japanese it is not for us to say. The Japanese are our very good allies and our respected competitors. We gradge them no fairly acquired success and we make allowances for their difficulties in tuenter warrior nation into one composed, in some part, of shoplesspers. But we recognise their zeal and their capacity, and the Chin ese nation, reorganised in the Japanese fashiou, would still prove our very good friends.
